What light is to the eyes -
What air is to the lungs -
What love is to the heart,
Liberty is to the soul of man.
Without liberty the brain is
A dungeon, where the chained
Thoughts die with their pinions
Pressed against the hingeless Doors.

Is This The Road?

The wind was strong in my face, strong on the whole front of my body. Leaves rushed by, spinning and twisting as they went. Others swirled about in circles, then fell down, stilled for a moment, only to be picked up and swept on.

One leaf caught in a fence, it clung desperately, but the wind blew strong and sure, tearing it away and mixing it with the other leaves till it became one with them, again.

I walked on, the hairs of my head waving wildly, as if possessed, and indeed, the wind was their master.

The sun above me cast short shadows, pointing them like arrows in the direction from whence I came. I looked up into its harsh shimmering glare, but no friendly warmth came to my face to ease the cold the wind threw at me.

The wind blows hard. I don't know why I force myself forward against it. How much easier it would be with the wind behind me, to be a leaf, not to have to move myself, not to have to care, to be moved by the forces that be.

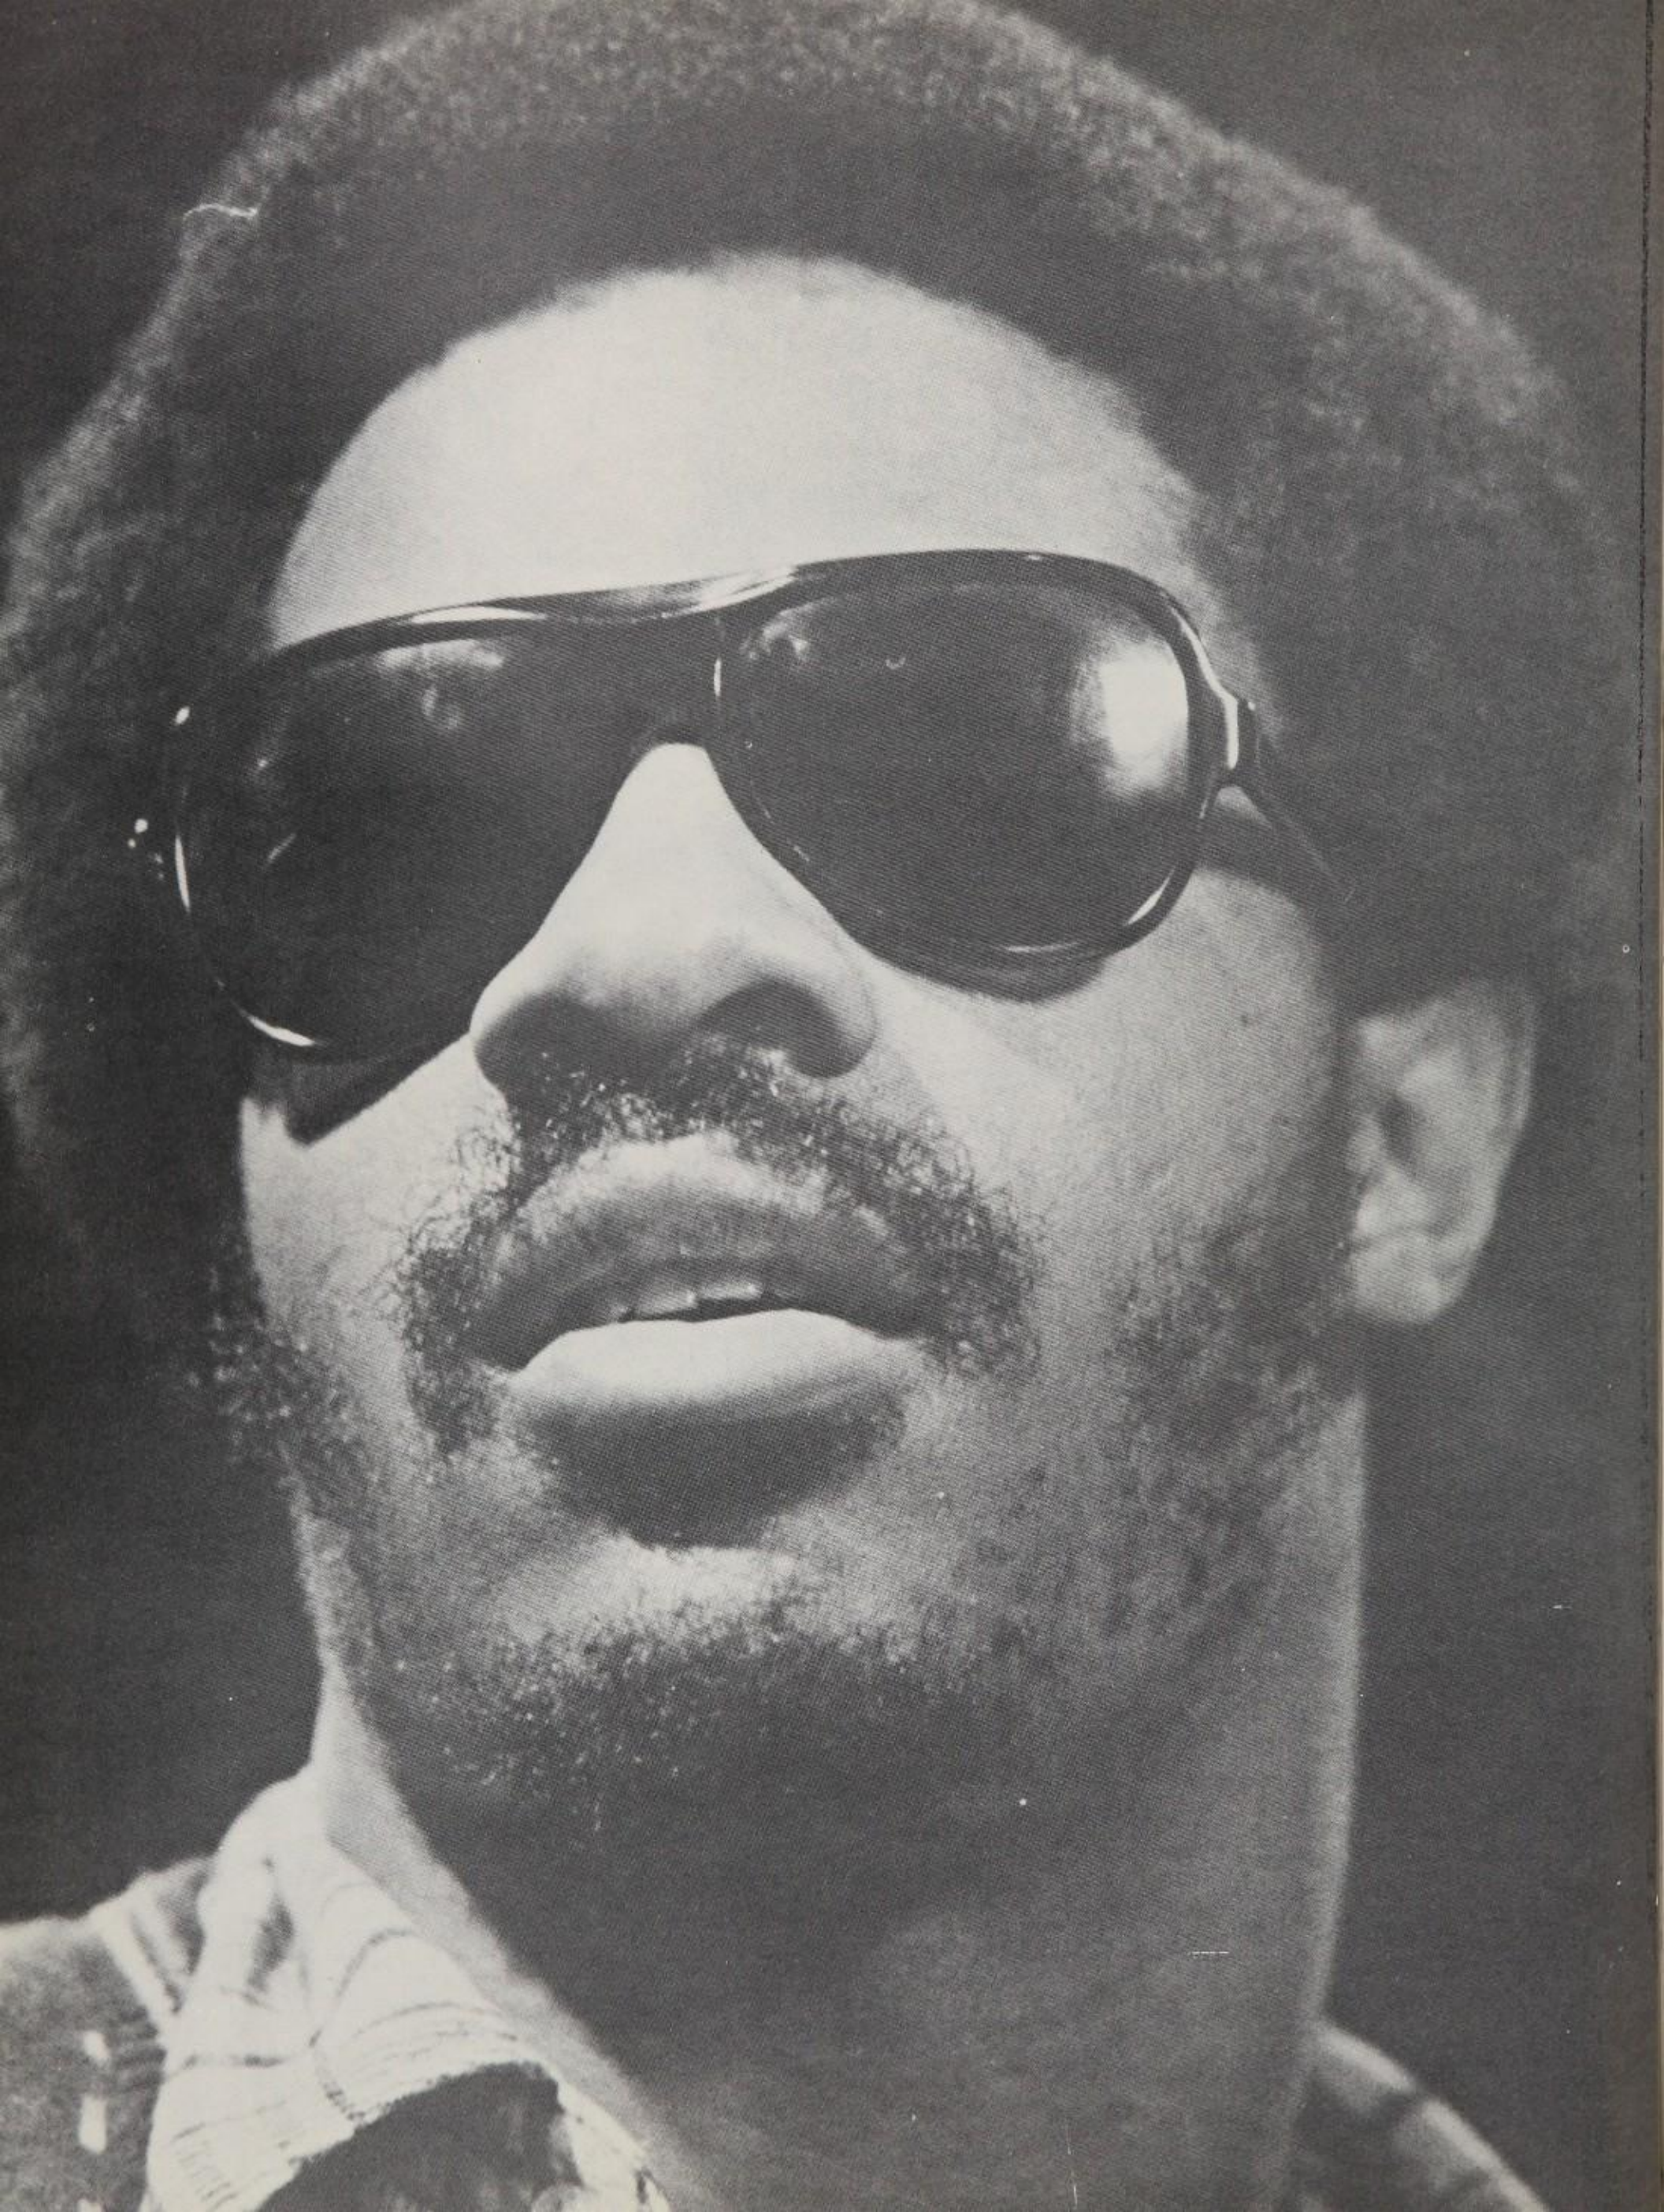
I walk on. The sun and wind have narrowed my eyes to slits. Drawn and dried tears fell from them. I keep them open though, wanting to see where I am going, to know my road, though I don't know why.

The road – it curves, but always comes true again, meandering up and down, weaving from side to side, like the thread in some huge fabric. I don't know how far down the road I've come, but I really wonder where it began.

My eyes strain to see the end of the road, but even now, on a clear day, it disappears over the horizon and merges with the setting sun. I wonder whether the road curves back again beyond the horizon, destining me to walk in a cosmic circle of birth and death. And I wonder too, that perhaps the road goes on to a place where I may find peace with the wind, and be able to look into the sun without squinting.

But then, I fear that the wind will win its war of attrition, buffeting and spinning me about till I fall down, dizzy and exhausted, never to rise again.

– by Lawrence Reiss



VISIONS

People hand in hand
Have I lived to see the milk and honey land?
Where hate's a dream and love forever stands
Or is this a vision in my mind?

The law was never passed
But somehow all men feel they're truly free at last.
Have we really gone this far through space and time
Or is this a vision in my mind?

I'm not one who make believes
I know that leaves are green
They only turn to brown when autumn comes around
I know just what I say
Today's not yesterday
And all things have an ending

But what I'd like to know
Is could a place like this exist so beautiful
Or do we have to find our wings and fly away
To the vision in our mind?

I'm not one who make believes
I know that leaves are green
They only change to brown when autumn comes around
I know just what I say
Today's not yesterday
And all things have an ending

But what I'd like to know
Is could a place like this exist so beautiful
Or do we have to take our wings and fly away
To the vision in our mind?

MAURICE BLEIFELD, Principal

June, 1974

Dear Graduate,

Congratulations on your graduation from high school.

You probably know that the graduation exercises at which you receive your diploma are also known as commencement exercises. This may appear odd, since one thinks of graduation as an end, while commencement means beginning. It is true that graduation does mark the completion of your high school career, and represents time spent in mastering knowledge, building skills and developing abilities. You can now reflect back with a feeling of satisfaction and accomplishment.

As you graduate, you look ahead, and begin a new phase of your development. You are now ready to make use of the background of learning, the learning how to learn, and the open-minded approach your teachers tried to instill. Commencement, then, is the beginning of many things, in which your education will continue, whether at college, or in the school of practical experience. If you face it with a readiness to get along with others, an eagerness to add to your store of knowledge and a burning desire to expand your horizons -- then your past education here at Van Buren will have prepared you for the direction in which you are moving.

The popular American poet, Oliver Wendell Holmes, expressed it well:

> I find the great thing in this world is > not so much where we stand,
> As in what direction we are moving...
> We must sail sometimes with the wind > and sometimes against it,
> But we must sail, and not drift, nor > lie at anchor.

Best wishes for a healthy, productive and happy future.

Sincerely,

Maurice Bleifeld

Dear Graduates,

Congratulations on your many gratifying achievements thus far, but more important, best wishes for the next, more demanding stage you will enter upon – college or employment – and most fervently, my hope that you will be able to do your part in bringing about a world of peace, enlightenment, and true brotherhood.

We have tried to prepare you for the responsibilities that lie ahead; we know you will face them with confidence and courage.

Good Luck!

Have you learned to love peace, and to hate violence?

"They shall beat their swords into ploughshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war anymore."

– Isaiah 2:4

Make it come true in your time. Respect life. Respect yourself. Respect your fellow man. Good bye, and good luck.

"We cannot continue our policy of getting rid of wastes by throwing them away-there is no more away." unknown

This statement is the basis for the action which has been undertaken by the Ecology Workshop. Our aim is to show that a meaningful contribution can be made by those who realize the consequences of inactivity.

We are involved in newspaper collections through our association with the Environmental Action Coalition. We are listed in the National Directory of Recycling Organizations. Other local projects include working along with other environmental groups in helping to keep Alley Pond Park a center of nature activity. We are also involved with recycling material through crafts projects. A recent example is the soap which we made by collecting fats and oils that would normally be thrown away. Help us help. Please care!

Old man lying by the side of the road, lories rolling by Blue moon sinking from the weight of the load
And the buildings scrape the sky,
Cold wind ripping down the alley at dawn
And the morning paper flies,
Dead man lying by the side of the road
With the daylight in his eyes,
Don't let it bring you down – it's only castles burning,
Find someone who's turning and you will come around.
Blind man running thru the light of the night
With an answer in his hand
Come on down to the river of sight
And you can really understand
Red lights flashing thru the window in the rain,
Can you hear the sirens moan?
White cane lying in a gutter in the lane,
If you're walking home alone
Don't let it bring you down – it's only castles burning,
Find someone who's turning and you will come around.
Don't let it bring you down, it's only castles burning,
Just find someone who's turning
And you will come around.

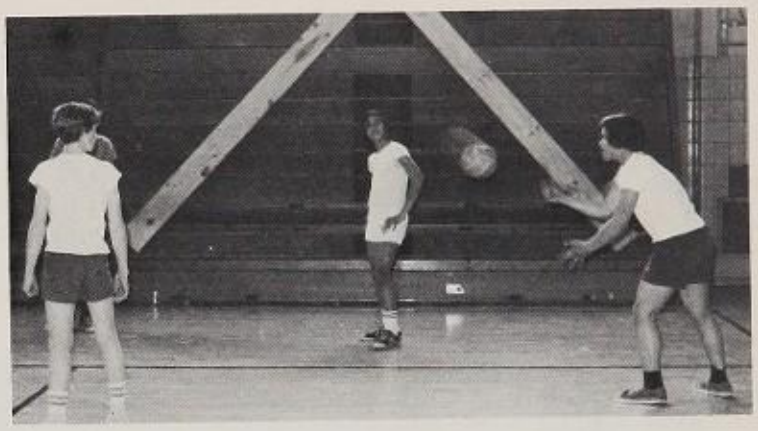
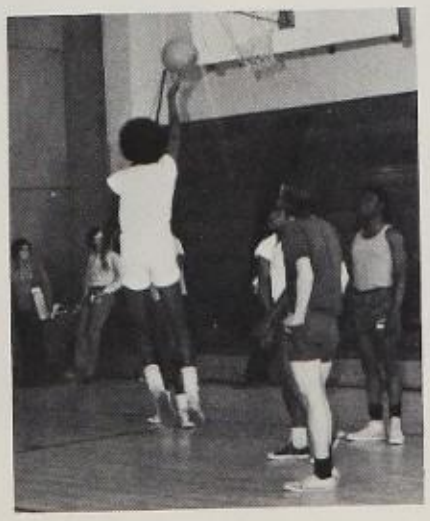
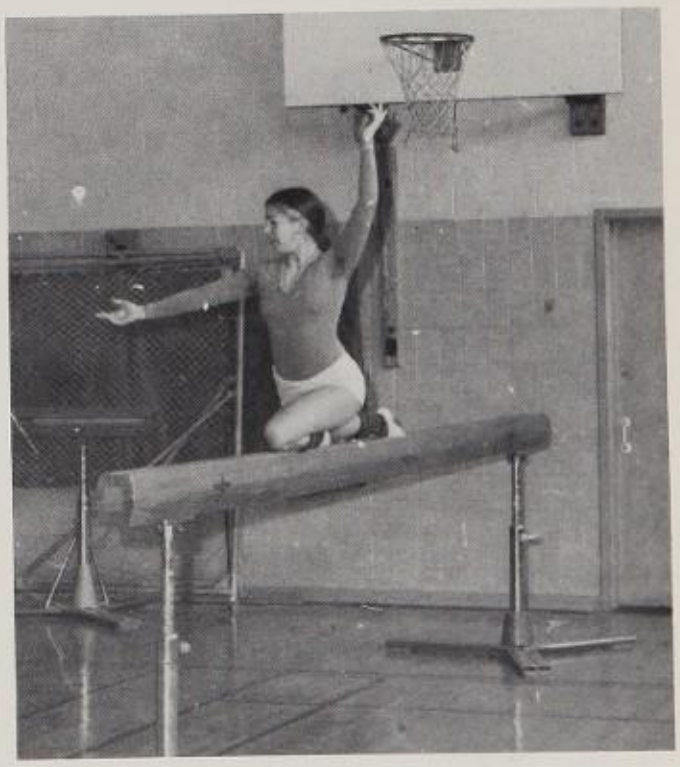
EXIT 4

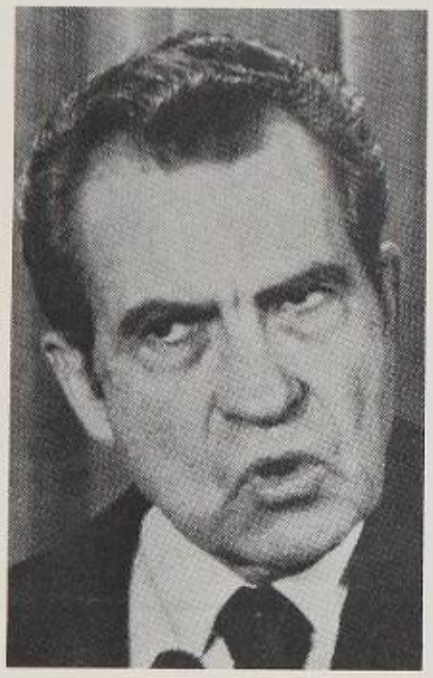




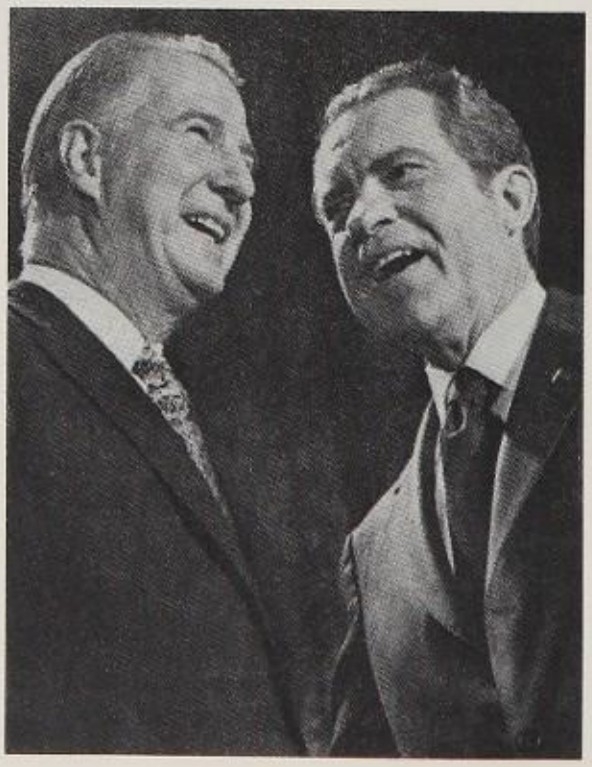


THAT WAS THE YEAR THAT WAS

The 1973-74 School year was a very significant year in many respects. It was the year of graduation; it was a year of political upheaval in Washington; it was the year of the energy crisis and many other crises. In an effort to help you remember the 1973-74 year, Futura brings you THAT WAS THE YEAR THAT WAS.

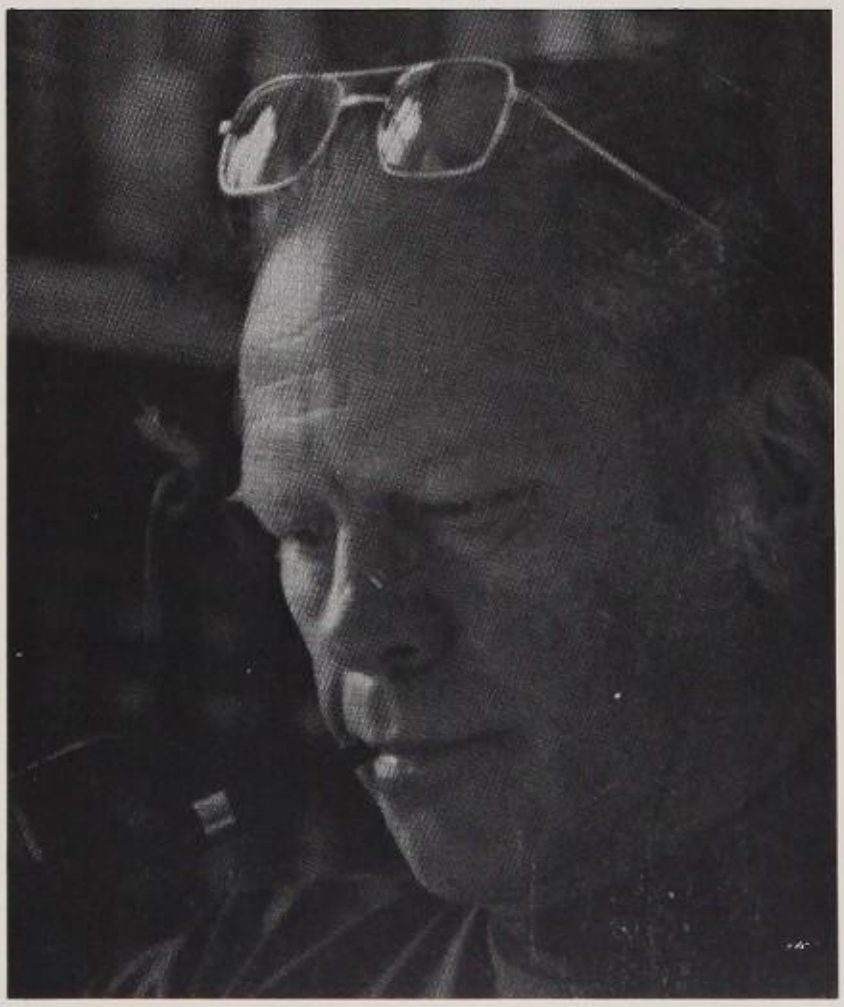


"Yes, it's true that I bugged my brother's phone. I just had to know whom Mom loved best."



"Thanks for taking the brunt of everything, Spiro, and be sure to keep in touch."

"When I fired Archibald Cox, the gentleman prosecuting me in the Watergate affair, some people alluded to me as King Richard. Let me make this perfectly clear: I resent being called King Richard; after all I only fired Cox, I could've beheaded him".



"I am aware that America is in a state of great predicament. But don't worry, now that I'm vice-president . . . Ford has a better idea".

In the world of sports the Mets came up from the cellar into World Series play. Tug McGraw's slogan was "you gotta believe".

The New York Giants and New York Jets didn't come too close to winning playoff berths. The two teams won six games between them.

Otherwise on the football scene, O. J. Simpson beat Jim Brown's all-time rushing record as he rushed for 2,003 yards this season.

Finally, it was the Minnesota Vikings against the Miami Dolphins in the Super-Bowl.

Around the world, the big news was the "Yom-Kippur" war.

Consequent to the war, Arabs withheld their oil exports, causing a great world-wide energy crisis. You had to make sure your car didn't break down on a Sunday because no gas station would be open.

To help out in this bad situation, President Nixon promised he'd "No longer use the air conditioner to be comfortable near the fireplace."

i remember a time, rompin' through the woods sun against our skin, instead of clothes when we felt hungry we would eat, when we felt glad we'd dance and whenever we felt drowsy we would doze it was so easy then never takin' any stands it was so easy then, holding hands

i remember a time when our fears could be named and courage meant not refusing dares i remember when we took such care to step never on the cracks, just in the squares or else we'd be abducted by the bears.
it was so easy then, never makin' any plans
it was so easy then holding hands

and now we are grown, with debts and regrets and broken hearts and sentimental schemes now every tender failure seems to overthrow old dreams it was so easy once, holdin' hands without a plan
it was so easy then holding hands
just holding hands

i wanna be free
like the birds flying above me like a ship sailing to sea yet, my freedom has not come to be

i wanna be free
like a glimmering star that shines so bright like the golden sun that offers its light but my freedom is not in sight

i wanna be free
just to do as i please
like a warm summer breeze with not a care on its mind my freedom, that's what i wanna find

Andrew Rosenthal

dealing with changes

i watch as a candle burns, the wax silently falling as the flame melts away.
comparing a candle that's burning, its beauty to you my brothers and sisters.
we are the same as the candle, our souls burn and give off light to each other as the flame delivers its light to its surroundings.
a breeze goes past, the flame moves with it, shivering and threatening to go out but always returning lit.
when pain goes past us, we sway, but never give in.
the breeze brings a threat of possible death to the flame, as daily living brings the same threat to us.
it fights to stay alive as we fight to survive,
like the wax which falls silently away, so do some of us;
melting without sound.
those who fall are proudly replaced by others ready to endure anything in the hopes of overcoming that which blocks the way.
yet, unlike a candle which goes out, our hopes do not.
they survive and are carried on through generations.
yes, i can compare our people to the silent and beautiful flame of a candle. our people, they burn with the same fierce determination of the candle flame, but instead of burning away, we are able to transfer this inner fire to our children, as they will do to their children.

The candle goes out but we go on silently and determined, we go on.

David K. Sampson

The limb on the tree is so unsafe,
Unknown is its future, for it is not protected.
It thanks God that it lives each day,
Not knowing if he will see tomorrow.
It lives a free and unsure life, like the rest of us.
What we will become, and how we go
The choice is ours, for we are free to do so as we please,
Realizing this life is a blessing,
And each day should be thought of as a precious gift
from God,
For there is no substitution for freedom.

Andrew Rosenthal

When I am free – standing out in the open air
Listening to the feelings of my confinement die out with a crackling sound
Like a fire burning out
Spitting its last breath
Watching the treetops of my fears drift off towards the clouds
Blown along by the summer wind.

I can see the clouds – blowing away
With spears of starlit morning reflected back as hungry as the day.

The air is a golden pillow of freedom
The sunset waits for my return bringing back a reset relief
Squeezed from life at every turn
Everything enrapt in one memory
Condensed out there from what I can see
Standing out in the open
When I am free.

I can see the clouds – blowing away
Watching the treetops of my fears drift off towards the clouds
Toward a flaming nite
Choked with purple rainbows of the restless intensity
Golden wildfire enshrouds the clouds as they blow away
With spears of starlite morning reflected back as hungry as the day.

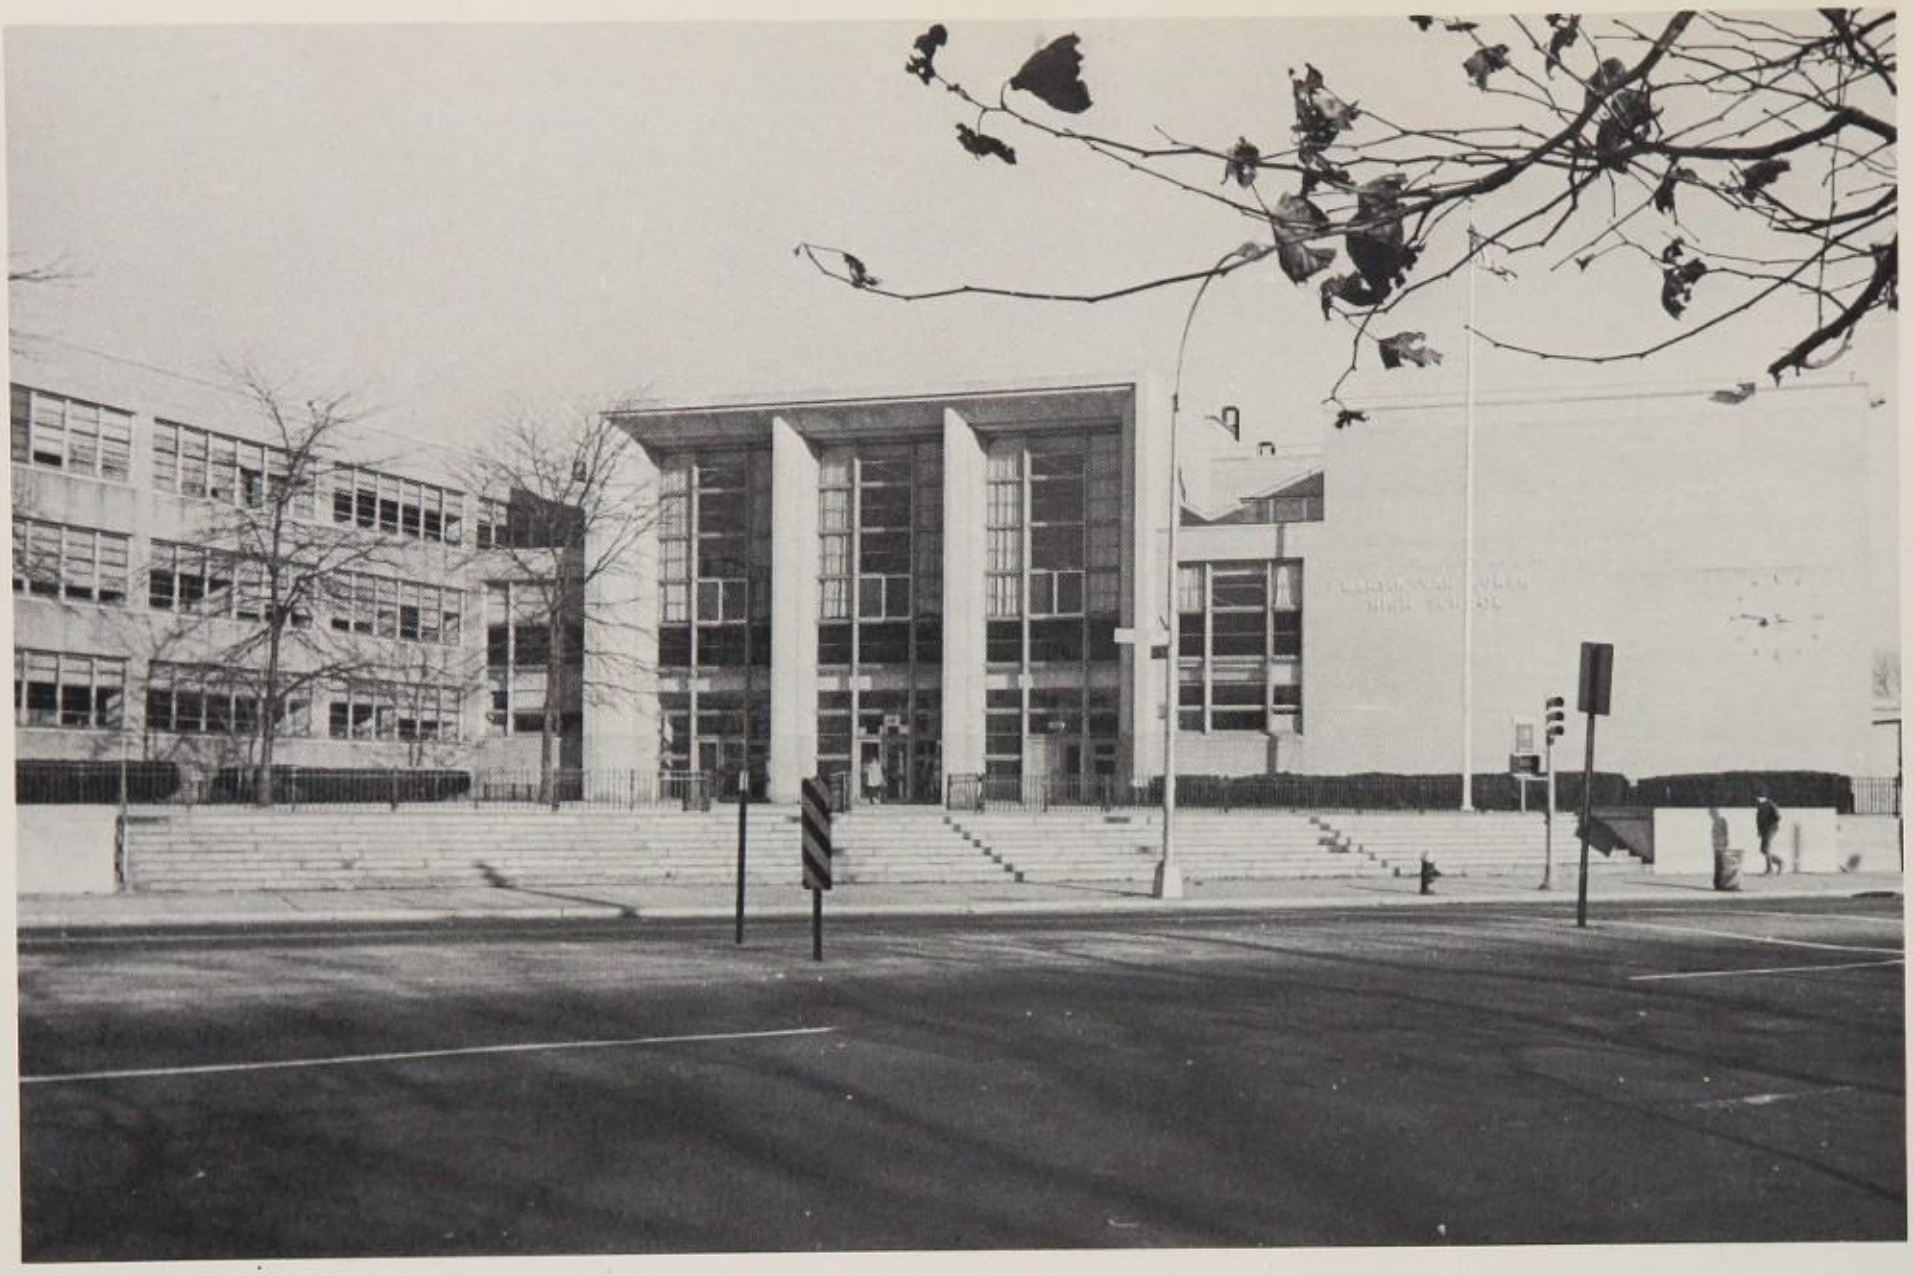
INNOCENCE

A Child
So innocent
Untouched by fear and hate,
Not knowing of the world to come,
Just wait.

Marianne Ilaw



Time has passed on, but memories we share.
The years have gone by, it just isn't fair.
The great things we've done, the good times we've had
Our four years now end, the thought is so sad,
For behind us we leave the school we know
That's helped us to learn, to mature and to grow.
So with a mind full of memories, we shed our tears
'Cause we can't relive those Van Buren years

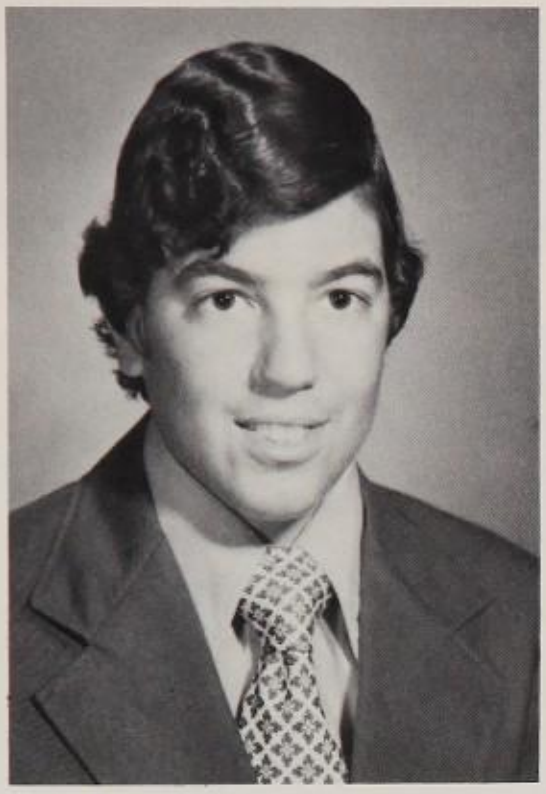
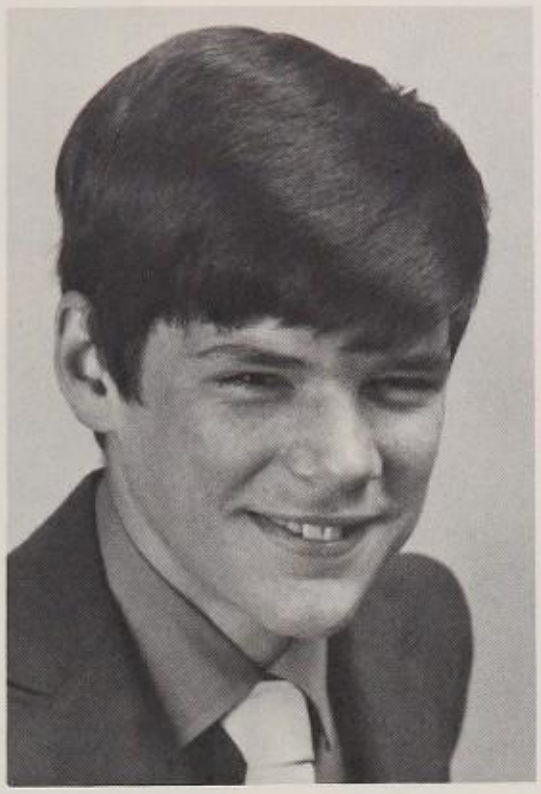
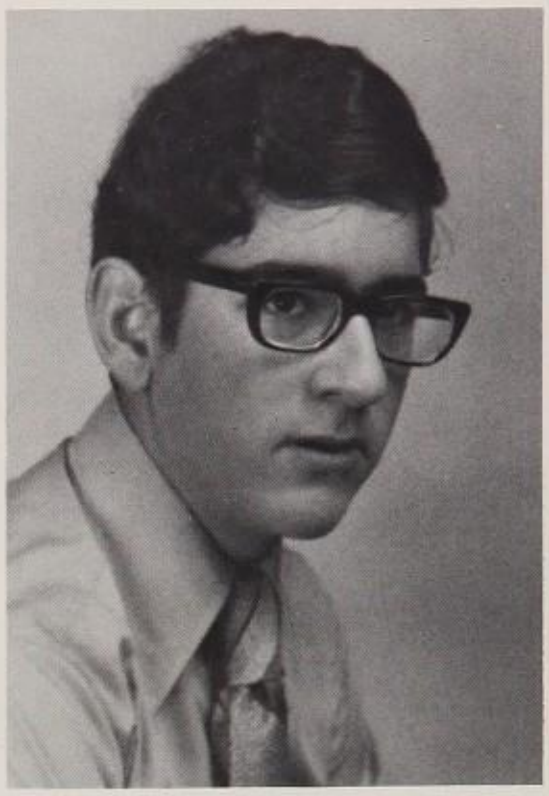
In Memory



Charles Biazzo



Raymond Cuthill



Wayne Goldsmith

"No man is an Island, entire of its self;
Every man is a piece of the Continent –
A part of the main;
If a clod be washed away by the sea,
Europe is the lesser;
As well as if a Promontory were.
Any Man's death diminishes me,
Because I am involved in mankind.
And therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls;
It tolls for thee."

John Donne

The class of 1974 will graduate this June, incomplete. We are not whole for we feel the loss of three of our classmates. Every man's life is inextricably interwoven with each of our own; our loss is as though we have lost some part of ourselves. Wayne Goldsmith, Raymond Cuthill, and Charles Biazzo are deeply missed, and that little piece of all of us, lost when they died, shall be a reminder to us of them forever.

We've got magic to do, just for you.

Stay here Alice, this is the place.

You will find what the puzzle says in just a matter of time, IT'S SO

We're here, all of us to entertain you, DOODLEDO.

Fruits of success!

Yes, you're our special guest.

Watch out, Cheshire Cat i' jumpin'.

Let me gaze into my crystal ball

Don't cry Alice, I'll be your mother.

With love, with hope, Evermore.

ALMA MATER

Now the lights flicker low, and the curtains draw near
In our hearts we all know, this our last year.

As the scenery fades on, and the makeup has worn
We'll continue our lives on a new shining dawn.

We have shown to our peers with arms open wide
That the young and the old, can stand side by side.

We have shown through our shows, mounting spirit and hope
And we will lead the world through our powerful scope.

Sing has come to mean more than just winning a cup
It's much more in our lives, lifting our spirits up.

We have brought you a book, as Sophs we tried our best
The portrayal of a cook who could beat all the rest.

Juniors showed you the sea, the destruction of earth
As we flew to the stars, through the tears shed with mirth.

Now our journey is through, and the years have flown by
We shall always recall these glorious nights.

With hope to inspire and achievement to gain
Sing will kindle our soul as we think back again.

As Sing thoughts reign supreme, all our life we will hold
This beauty we've shared, bringing light to our world.

So farewell to our school, as we walk down the path
Haunting our memories, with love, with hope, Evermore.

Futura

It is amazing how the people will submit themselves to a living death worse than death itself. Even the most decadent societies in past history have understood that a basic minimum must be accorded for a slave or even an animal to be able to produce a reasonable day's work . . . With millions of extra laborers who cannot exist otherwise, the competition for the right to become a slave is fierce . . .

Every slave of every time has dreamt of freedom, and every tyrant of every time has recognized that dream. Here the slightest defect by protest or sickness brings immediate liquidation and replacement by another who scrambles for the right to be a slave.

—MILA 18 by Leon Uris

Since the theme of FUTURA '74 is freedom, I think the preceding excerpt is very fitting. I hope Uris' words will encourage, even challenge you, to use the education you have received thus far as a tool to implement change in a society which all too often makes us labor against one another rather than with each other for the benefit of all. Treat everyone with fairness and understanding as this will always benefit you. Be cognizant of the fact that fiction approaches reality and you have the power to make your realities wholesome and happy.

Good luck and best wishes to all.

Love,
Sheldon Miller

HEARD OFTEN AROUND THE YEARBOOK OFFICE

Mr. Miller has a date?!!!
Where's everybody?
DON'T ANYBODY GO!!
Where's Melanie, she has all the pictures.
Where's Mr. Miller?
I'm going out to lunch.
Andrew got two more ads.
They rejected the opening again.
I saw her!! She's married!
Your mind must be on something else – what – sex perhaps?
I gotta live with these people.
Where do I go to speak to the master dummy?
I'm going to the hospital for a swollen ego?
Don't talk about my woman that way!
Sure I'll come tonight. Why not?
Come on, be for REAL!!
Richie, stop looking at the keyboard!
We need another art page, Phyllis.
Thank God Frank's here.
Was she cute?
Well, there goes the second deadline!
Did you bring dinner tonight?
We're staying all day AGAIN??!
If there's nothing to type, I'm going home.
You've got no taste!
One hour left folks!
I can't believe we finished – Hallelujah!!!
We love you Shelly!!!!

We wish to thank:
Debbie Boccaccio for the cover,
Christine Graziano, Phyllis Weiss, Melanie Silverberg, Debbie Boccaccio, and Moon Hee Choi for art contribution,
Andrew Rosenthal, and David Sampson for literary contribution, Kenny Legunn, Mark Starkman, Michael Brachfeld, and Sharon Mapp for photographic contributions,
Andrew Rosenthal for being business manager,
Mark Likoff for the tribute to our deceased classmates,
All those who contributed to the support of this book through the purchase of boosters and ads,
Mr. Marcus for being the "Key" to our success,
The custodians for putting up with us during our night meetings,
Lincoln Studios and Frank for their cooperation,
Frank Bolton for his devotion and help to our Yearbook,
Mr. Shelly Miller for being Mr. Futura 1974.

Mr. Stracher, I don't think Oli quite understands what you meant.

Van Buren Remembrances

"Hey man, I can't hack second period. I've got to cut it."

"Can't cut it. I've got a test."

"Ah, what's wrong with you, man – "

"Nothing."

"Look, I'll write you a late pass".

"Right, you've got a case! I remember the last time you wrote me one of your passes."

"But you've got to come with me. I've got to get this done for Mr. Miller by the 5th. We can write it in Dunkin' Donuts."

"Yeah, but you still better write me a late pass."

"All right, let's get movin'."

"Try to get out before the bell rings. We'll be trampled to death on the stairs, if we don't."

"Hey there's Allan and Vera. I don't see Allan around much anymore. I wonder what he's doing with himself, now that Sing is over."

"Probably polishing his trophy."

"That was some show, man."

"I felt pretty stupid playing with my tail, too."

"What about me, I boogied alongside the ham with the purple wig."

"Which way to the swimming pool?"

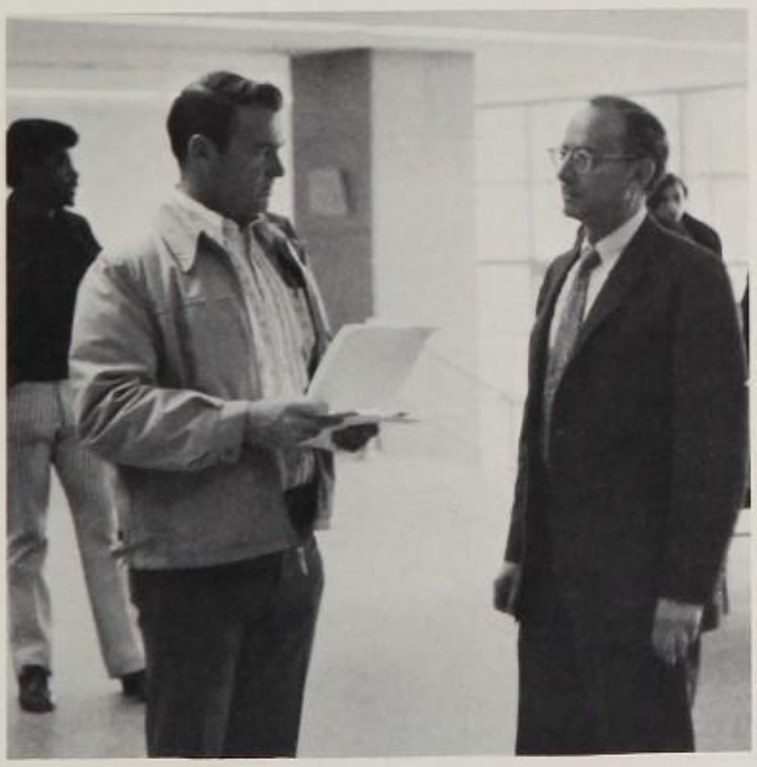
"I had no cavities with Crest."

"I need a Bromo."

"London Bridge is falling down . . . . My Fair Lady."

"I got my job through the New York Times."

"My Lipstick? . . . . Yardley, of course."



"Where's your pass young man?"

"How are you, Mrs. Reichman? How are your Student Affairs?"

"Snort, snort, grunt, grunt"

"Well, take it easy, people."

"Wow, in the morning it is really awful – my eyes just can't adjust to these new bright lights."

"Yeah, especially when it is dark outside. I can't take the early daylight savings time."

"Uh-oh – here comes a security guard. I hope he isn't going to hassle us."

"If he does, either I'll tell him who I am, or I'll throw a couple of four syllable words like gymnasium at him; that should confuse him."

"All right, if you guys don't have passes, you're in trouble. If you want to loiter, you'll just have to move on."

"What?"

"Look, if you don't bother us, we'll bring you back some doughnuts."

"I wonder what that line in front of room 101 is?"

"It isn't a gas line, that's for sure."

"They're waiting for Senior Show tickets."

"Did you get your tickets for 'Oklahoma' yet?"

"No. I'll sneak in – like I do for every school event."

"Do you remember the time I walked in with a sheet, said it was a toga, and got into the "Boys From Syracuse"!

"Yeah, and I said I was a teacher and got into the Student-Faculty game both years."

"Wait, I see Mr. Langley at this door. Let's get out another way."

"Do you realize that after all these terms, we're still doing the same stuff – trying to cut out past Langley."

"Some things never change."

"Did you get fitted for your cap and gown yet?"

"No, I must have been absent."

"I can't believe that we're really graduating, though."

"All the things that happened – like all the Sings, the Hootenanys, Concerts and all the work and credit – and even the discredit – all those ups and downs we had as a class – just went by too quickly."

"You're right. But I wonder if there are any security guards in college."

Essay by Chris, Ken and Mark

". . . the taste I hate twice a day."

"I was in line ahead of you."

"But I looked there, and all I found was a clock."
